

CBSC DEPUTY EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR RETIRES!

Tom Morrison retired this summer and after nearly four decades of state service he is looking forward to more time with his wife, Susan, of 36 years, their three grandchildren, extensive home projects and lots and lots of travel.

A Northern California native, Tom graduated from UC Davis with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1973. While completing an MBA at Sacramento State he was a student assistant with the State of California Department of Food and Agriculture, and the Department of Youth Authority. Before joining the Building Standards Commission in 1981 he worked at the Employment Development Department.

Tom was a Building Code Analyst for the CBSC for ten years before his promotion to Office Manager and Legislative Coordinator. He moved to the Office of Real Estate Appraisers as Legislative Coordinator and Public Information Officer in 1996. Tom returned to the commission in 2001 as Deputy Executive Director.

Tom and Susan are bound for Tennessee in the fall and have already planned a trip to Europe in Spring 2011. Otherwise Tom has multiple home projects on his schedule, which include further training of the family's 'rather large' two golden retrievers, gardening, assuming all cooking duties, and community service activities.

He will be missed by his many colleagues. A quiet, good natured gentleman he will be remembered for his wicked sense of humor, calming presence and most importantly his frequent purchase of Panera bagels for office staff!
