Gary Fabian
Associate Architect

Gary joined the California Building Standards Commission (CBSC) as an Associate Architect in June 2016. Before moving to CBSC, Gary worked at the California Energy Commission (CEC). During his tenure with the CEC he developed educational materials for public use and conducted training with their education and outreach unit.

Gary has been involved in the practice of architecture, with a focus on public works, since 1978. His nearly 40 years of industry experience includes architectural design, building commissioning and facilities bond programs. Gary brings a pragmatic perspective to the continuing evolution of California's building standards.

Gary's idea of fun is studying for yet another academic degree, when he's not cycling or kayaking.
