

From: Bob Raymer [mailto:rraymer@cbia.org]
Sent: Friday, November 09, 2012 1:43 PM
To: Hensel, Doug@HCD
Subject: HCD Part 11: Chapter 3
Importance: High

I was just reading HCD's 15-Day Language and saw that the word "conditioned" has been removed from Section 301.1.1 (Additions and Alterations). I was under the impression that HCD had agreed to keep this useful adjective in their green building regulations. This term will help reduce confusion in the field and is in line with the same terminology used by the Energy Commission in the application of Part 6. Was there a reason HCD is seeking to remove "conditioned" from the scoping requirements related to Additions and Alterations?

Robert E. Raymer, PE
Senior Engineer/Technical Director
California Building Industry Association
1215 K Street, Suite 1200
Sacramento, Ca. 95814
(916) 443-7933 (x322)