Dear Dave Walls,

My name is Adam and I live in San Rafael (Marin County).

It's great to learn about the new greywater code for the state of California, especially since i've been thinking about installing system for my washing machine. I'm a gardner and have a few newly planted fruit trees so i'm always looking for more ways to conserve water for the sake of no wasting it and for economic reasons. I'd like to help my neighbors, whom are interested as well, install a greywater system also. Over time I think it will become more tolerated and accepted as a standard way to reuse water which is only becoming more and more valuable. The 12 requirements for the no-permit systems really serve an important role in allowing people to make the most of what water they've paid for and to also act ethically towards their environment by recycling their resources on-site rather than dumping into the sewer.

Please keep that part of the code intact and continue in this direction of removing barriers of permits and fees for simple sustainable practices.

Regards,
Adam Quick
