

Valley Schools Receive Construction Funds

July 25, 2008

Two San Fernando Valley high schools received state construction grants to ease overcrowding.

Three Simi Valley schools were also among the total of 193 Californian schools receiving funding from the State Allocation Board.

The funds will provide for new construction and modernization projects and help address classroom overcrowding at California schools. In addition, the grants will help some schools make emergency repairs to their facilities.