

BEFORE THE
OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE HEARINGS
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

In the Consolidated Matters of: PARENT ON BEHALF OF STUDENT, v. VICTOR VALLEY UNION HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT,	OAH CASE NO. 2012090744
PARENT ON BEHALF OF STUDENT, v. VICTOR VALLEY UNION HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT	OAH CASE NO. 2012070653 ORDER DENYING MOTION TO FOR ATTORNEYS FEES

On April 30, 2013, District filed a Motion for a portion of Attorney’s Fees and Costs, following OAH’s April 8, 2013 Order Granting Student’s Request for Dismissal With Prejudice.

On May 2, 2013, Student’s parent filed her Opposition.

Procedural History

By way of background, on December 1, 2009, Student’s parent filed OAH case number 2009120327. On March 16, 2010, the parties entered a settlement agreement which resolved all claims up to the date of execution.

On July 21, 2011, shortly after than settlement agreement expired, Student’s parent filed OAH case 2011080031, which was consolidated with 2011080382. Those cases alleged 29 issues against the District. A lengthy hearing was held. On March 12, 2012, and March 26, 2012, ALJ Lehrman issued a Decision and Order and Corrected Decision. The Factual Findings, Legal Conclusions, Remedies, and Order covered the time period of April 6, 2010, through the end of the 2012 extended school year. That 100 page Decision was deemed to establish FAPE for the 2011-2012 regular school year and 2012 ESY. That Order was also deemed to set forth the stay-put placement in the event of a dispute between the parties, as follows:

ORDER

1. Student's placement for the 2011-2012 school year shall be his home high school unless the parties agree otherwise.
2. Student shall be mainstreamed at least 44% of his day.
3. For two periods daily for a core subject and an elective, District shall place Student in a collaboration model general education setting, with a general education teacher and a special education teacher providing push-in RSP support.
4. Student shall receive general education PE;
5. District shall place Student into a SDC for the balance of the school day for core subjects based upon state standards.
6. Except with regard to OT, the related services that were offered in the June 2, 2011, IEP shall be implemented, as follows: speech and language once a week for 30 minutes; counseling three times per month for 30 minutes; full-time 1:1 NPA aide services plus ten hours a month supervision, both from CIBA; ESY with these related services, and transportation.
7. The following modifications and accommodations shall be implemented: alpha smart software, a portable keyboard; a digilock for PE, extra time for assignments, tests and quizzes; use of graphic organizers; preferential seating; and prompting as necessary and consistent with goals.
8. The goals stated in the June 2, 2011, IEP were appropriate and shall be implemented. For those goals stating "Excel," District may replace "Excel" staff with general education teachers, RSP teachers and Student's NPA aide.
9. OT shall be provided by an NPA 45 minutes per week and shall address Goals numbered 1-2, 5 and 16-17.
10. Within 45 days of the date of this decision, District shall conduct a new FAA to target the behaviors of: physical aggression (including assaults, knocking over tables, throwing books; fighting); threats; insults (including teasing or name-calling); tantrums, disobedience (including refusal, defiance, or noncompliance); running away/bolting; blurting out in class; repetitive talk; trading (including giving away contraband, selling or stealing); lying; and inappropriate sexual conduct (including cursing, obscenities, profanity in oral or written form, and vulgarity or harassment toward females) which shall be completed and an IEP meeting convened within legally required timelines. At that IEP, the team will develop a BIP. Pending a new FAA and BIP, the UHS BSP shall be implemented.
11. If Mother does not consent to the FAA, the relief granted in this Decision shall be null and void.
12. For purposes of stay put, the above orders shall constitute Student's current educational placement.

Neither party appealed this Decision. After this Order was issued Student's parent re-enrolled Student in the District for three days, and Student attended school on April 10, 11 and 12, 2012. Immediately thereafter, Student's parent then disenrolled Student, alleging District was not in compliance with the Order because Student's behavior agency did not fill out her personal notebook of his daily behavior and place it in his backpack at the end of the day. Student's parent instead enrolled Student in a private religious on-line independent study program.

The Consolidated Due Process Requests at Issue

On July 20, 2012 and September 24, 2012, Student filed the above captioned cases, which were consolidated by OAH on October 4, 2012. Between the two cases, Student raised 109 issues.

Simultaneously, Student's parent filed compliance complaints with the California Department of Education (CDE) and the Office of Civil Rights (OCR). Both CDE and OCR found District to be in compliance. However, Student's parent did not re-enroll Student in the District's program.

Student's parent's multiple motions, subpoenas, and motions to compel and motions for sanctions:

Student's parent filed the following motions in 2012

12. On January 16, 2013, Student's parent filed an opposition to the request for continuance made by District's new counsel of record.

13-20. In January and February, Student's parent served multiple subpoenas and subpoena duces tecum, multiple motions to compel, and motions for sanction against charter schools and employees of charter schools which student never enrolled in, and opposed multiple motions to quash by those schools.

21. On February 28, Student's parent filed an objection to a motion for official notice.

22. On March 13, Student's parent filed an objection to District's request to exclude evidence.

23. On March 19, Student's parent filed a motion to exclude District's supplemental evidence.

The March 6, 2013 PHC

On March 6, 2013, ALJ Deborah Myers-Cregar held the Pre Hearing Conference (PHC). In the PHC Order, the ALJ organized and consolidated 109 issues by timelines into issues (A) 1 through 28; (B) 1 through 5; (C) 1 through 4; (D) 1 through 6; (E) 1 through 8; F 1; (G) 1 through 3; (H) 1; (I) 1; (J) 1; (K) 1 through 4; and (L) 1. Of those issues, many were dismissed by the Student's parent at the PHC, by ALJ Myers-Cregar at the PHC due to their internal repetition, and by ALJ Castillo by his prior order. Other issues were dismissed by the ALJ because Judge Lehman's Decision covered the same issues and remedies as plead by Student's parent. Those issues were dismissed with prejudice, as set forth in the PHC Order. Official Notice is taken of that order, set forth below in italics:

The Subject Due Process Hearing

On March 18, 19, 20, and 21, 2013, the Due Process Hearing was held on the above captioned consolidated cases. During the four days of hearing, Student's parent called and examined seven witnesses, and District called and examined one additional witness. Four of Student's parent's Exhibits were admitted, and 14 of District's Exhibits were admitted.

During each day of hearing, the ALJ sought clarification from Student's parent regarding the issues she raised in her consolidated complaints. Student's parent clarified the issues and requested dismissal of many issues. On March 21, 2013, Student's parent represented that the 8 remaining issues set forth below accurately represented the issues she intended to raise. The issues were memorialized in writing, and admitted into evidence as Student's Exhibit 66, which is set forth below in italics.

1) Whether District denied Student a FAPE by not implementing ALJ Lehrman's Order on April 10, 11, and 12, 2012, including placement, accommodations, and modifications, including not providing Student with coursework, homework, a daily parent communication logbook with updates on his functional behavior, a clean cadet corps uniform which fit him, Alphasmart software and a portable keyboard, and by not discussing what accommodations were provided to Student during the May 4 and May 24, 2012 IEPs.

2) Whether District denied Student a FAPE during the May 4 and 24, 2012 IEPs when developing goals and objectives, and instead used old data and information, and did not consider parent concerns that Student required a current academic assessment.

3) Whether District's placement offer at the May 24, 2012 IEP denied Student a FAPE and was inappropriate, in spite of ALJ Lehrman's Order, because Student required independent study, a charter school, an on-line school, educational therapy, tutoring, coursework, homework, a daily parent communication logbook with updates on his functional behavior, an after school program with accommodations and an aide, and career training; Whether District's offer of Student's home school offered was inappropriate due to violence; and Whether District denied Student a FAPE because it didn't consider parent concerns and didn't discuss all available placements.

4) Whether District denied Student a FAPE during April 10, 11, and 12, 2012, by using the CIBA- Leafwing NPA aide provider which Parent did not like because they did not provide her with the daily parent communication log book she wanted.

5) Whether District denied Student a FAPE when it disenrolled him from its school after parent privately placed him in May 2012; Whether District denied Student a FAPE because it did not allow Student to be enrolled at the District and also at private Christian independent study home school; and Whether District denied Student a FAPE when it did not provide related services for Student's private Christian independent study home school placement; and Whether Student is entitled to compensatory education for the unilateral private placement at a Christian independent study home school.

6) Whether District denied Student a FAPE by not implementing ESY for 2012.

7) Whether District denied Student a FAPE by not providing 98 hours of tutoring pursuant to his April 18, 2011 IEP.

8) Whether District denied Student a FAPE between January 2012 and March 2012 by failing to give Student homework and schoolwork assignments.

The ALJ dismissed the following issue, under res judicata, based on ALJ Garrett's Stay Put Order and ALJ Lehrman's final Decision and Order.

1) Whether District denied Student a FAPE when it did not provide an NPA aide, and Student could not attend school from August 22, 2011 through March 26, 2012.

Consistent with the PHC Order of March 6, 2013, all issues which were dismissed by the Student's parent and the ALJ were dismissed with prejudice.

District's and Student's Parent's Motion to Dismiss

On March 21, 2013, the last day of hearing, District made an oral motion to dismiss the remaining issues with prejudice. In response, Student's parent requested a dismissal of Student's complaint in its entirety, without prejudice. In response, District requested that the dismissal be made with prejudice, and that OAH retain jurisdiction for appropriate further relief.

District argued that Student's issues were compliance complaint issues properly within the jurisdiction of CDE and OCR, and that Student's parent's compliance complaints been addressed by CDE and OCR with a finding that District was in compliance. District argued that Student's parent was also circumventing the orders and Decisions of ALJ Lehrman, set forth above, with specific remedies and stay put orders which were not appealed. District further argued that the complaint was frivolous, and unreasonable, because the original 109 issues, later, consolidated to 8 issues, were not properly brought under the IDEA. District argued that Student's parent brought numerous complaints, and that her pattern of filing complaints such as this one was an abuse of process, unreasonable, without foundation, and brought for the purpose of harassment, causing unnecessary delay, and to increase the costs of litigation.

District argued that it substantially complied with ALJ Lehrman's order, and was found in compliance by both CDE and OCR.

District argued that Student's parent refused to give consent to a more current academic assessment. District argued that Student's parent disenrolled Student before it could complete other assessments.

District argued that the daily parent communication logbook was not part of ALJ Lehrman's order, and that at the IEP meeting of May 4 and May 24, the non-public agency behavior intervention supervisor discussed how Student exhibited maladaptive behavior when the daily parent communication logbook was placed in his backpack.

District argued that as a matter of law, it should prevail, based on ALJ Lehrman's order that Student's home school, a comprehensive high school, was the appropriate placement, and it followed her order.

District argued that the 98 hours of tutoring requested was offered in the 2010 settlement agreement which expired, and not the April 18, 2011 IEP as alleged, and that Student's parent was well aware of this.

District argued that as a matter of law, it was not required to give student homework.

The Order of Dismissal with Prejudice

On April 8, 2013, the ALJ ordered that the consolidated matters be dismissed with prejudice; and ordered that Student's parent not file further due process hearing requests on the same issues arising during the same time periods alleged in the dismissal pleading.

The ALJ based her order on the finding that Student's consolidated due process hearings requests were filed not long after Student's parent prevailed in a similarly lengthy due process hearing, which resulted in a detailed 100 page OAH order detailing what a free appropriate public education would be for Student going forward. Student's parent simultaneously pursued compliance complaints with the CDE and OCR for some of the same issues in the instant filings that required District to use a considerable amount of resources over many months, only to request dismissal after multiple days of hearing. Student's parent did not request dismissal of all claims until the fourth day of hearing was scheduled to begin, eight witnesses had testified, and numerous documents had been admitted into evidence. The Student's parent called seven witnesses, and District called one, who were either District employees or whose appearances were facilitated by the District, enabling them to testify during the school day. In light of the significant commitment of time and resources to address the same overlapping issues as in the earlier due process hearing requests and/or Student's parent's compliance complaints, the order concluded that dismissal with prejudice was warranted.

District's Motion for Attorney's Fees

District contends that Student's parent's actions, itemized above, demonstrated bad faith, and constituted tactics which were frivolous and intended to cause unnecessary delay. District also contends that the ALJ's Order dismissing Student's consolidates cases with prejudice was tantamount to a determination that District was the prevailing party.

Student's parent contends that she never acted in bad faith, never prolonged or interfered with the due process hearing, and merely exercised Student's parent's right to challenge District's actions. Student's parent claims that District failed to prove there were overlapping issues with OCR. Student's parent contends District failed to substantially comply with ALJ Lehman's Order during the three days Student was enrolled by not providing him with an Alphasmart keyboard, the logbook that parent invented, and 98 hours of tutoring which was the product of a confidential settlement agreement. Student's parent explained that dismissal on the last day of hearing was requested because District threatened and harassed her by calling a school truancy officer to speak with her. Student's parent acknowledged that while she agreed to voluntarily dismiss many of her original 109 issues, she did not act with bad faith at any time.

Applicable law

After notice and an opportunity to be heard, OAH may order a party, attorney, or other authorized representative to pay reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by another party as a result of bad faith actions or tactics that are frivolous or solely intended to cause unnecessary delay as defined by Code of Civil Procedure, section 128.5 (Gov. Code, §11455.30, subd. (a), Cal.Code Regs., tit. 1, §1040, subds. (a), (b).) Actions or tactics are defined as including, but not limited to, making or opposing motions, or the failure to comply with a lawful order of the ALJ. Frivolous is defined as totally and completely without merit, or for the sole purpose of harassing an opposing party. (Cal.Code Regs., tit. 1, §1040, subds. (a)(1), (2)(A), (B).) The ALJ shall determine the reasonable expenses based upon sworn testimony, or a declaration setting forth the specific expenses insured as a result of the bad faith conduct. The order for sanctions may be made on the record or in writing, setting forth the factual findings upon which the sanctions are based. (Cal.Code Regs., tit. 1, §1040, subd. (c).) Under the applicable statute and regulation, a party may bring such motions without an ALJ designation that they are a prevailing party.

A comprehensive discussion of the grounds for sanctions under Code of Civil Procedure section 128.5 is set forth in Levy v. Blum (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 625, 635-637. A trial court may impose sanctions under Code of Civil Procedure section 128.5 against a party, a party's attorney, or both, for "bad-faith actions or tactics that are frivolous or solely intended to cause unnecessary delay." A bad faith action or tactic is frivolous if it is "totally and completely without merit" or if it is instituted "for the sole purpose of harassing an opposing party." (Id., subd. (b)(2).) Whether an action is frivolous is governed by an objective standard: whether any reasonable attorney would agree it is totally and completely without merit. There must also be a showing of an improper purpose; i.e., subjective bad faith on the part of the attorney or party to be sanctioned.

An improper purpose may be inferred from the circumstances. (West Coast Development v. Reed (1992) 2 Cal.App.4th 693, 702.) As the Court of Appeal held in that case:

... the bad faith requirement of section 128.5 [of the Code of Civil Procedure] does not impose a determination of evil motive. The concept of "harassment" includes vexatious tactics which, although literally authorized by statute or rule, go beyond that which is by any standard appropriate under the circumstances. We appear to be approaching a consensus on the morality of litigation tactics which requires that counsel, even if on technically correct legal ground, not take action which unreasonably or unnecessarily injures the opposing counsel or party.

Sanctions have been upheld when an attorney has made a frivolous pretrial motion by inventing a remedy that does not exist under the IDEA. (K.S. v. Fremont Unified School Dist. (N.D.Cal. 2008) 545 F.Supp.2d 995, 1009-1010.)

Under 20 U.S.C. section 1415, subdivision (i)(3)(i) (I), (II) and (III), the District Court may award reasonable attorney's fees to a prevailing party in an action or proceeding when the action was frivolous, unreasonable, or without foundation, against the attorney of a parent who continued to litigate after the litigation clearly became frivolous, unreasonable or without foundation, and when the Student's parent's complaint was presented for any improper purpose, such as to harass, delay, or to needlessly increase the cost of litigation.

Analysis

The pleadings for which the District seeks sanctions are part of a larger record in these matters of repeated filings, motions, and objections by Student's parent that substantially increased the District's litigation costs. However, there are several factors which indicate Student's parent did not bring them for an improper purpose. Most significantly, the Student's parent demonstrated a disorganized and unfocused representation of Student.

Here, Student's parent was not represented by counsel. While Student's parent was an experienced litigant who filed and defended multiple due process requests, her familiarity with special education laws was not well directed or focused. Student's parent's pattern of virtually continuous due process filings with OAH, and CDE and OCR compliance complaints demonstrated a zeal to vigorously assert her child's rights, however misdirected and unfocused. These facts do not demonstrate an improper motive.

ALJ Lehrman's March 2012 Corrected Decision and Order, over 100 pages long, found in favor of Student, and provided a very detailed Order that served as the stay-put order in the event of a dispute between the parties up through ESY 2012. While Student's parent enrolled Student in the District's program for only three days, then pursued simultaneous CDE, OCR compliance complaints and OAH due process complaints, she was acting within the rights afforded to her under the IDEA. Student's parent's filing of 109 issues, while repetitive and unfocused, did not demonstrate she filed for the improper purpose of harassing the District. Rather, it demonstrated sheer disorganization and inability to edit her thoughts. Student's parent's actions did not demonstrate a conscious disregard for the ALJ orders, or demonstrate a pattern of bad faith actions and frivolous tactics as contemplated by Code of Civil Procedure, section 128.5, Government Code, §11455.30, subdivision. (a), title 1, California Code of Regulations, §1040, subdivisions (a), (b), and (c).

When Student's parent filed and opposed 21 motions, including serving subpoenas on non-interested entities and persons, and seeking motions to compel and sanctions, and opposing the District's multiple motions to dismiss, she was acting within the rights afforded to parents under the IDEA. While Student's parent ultimately requested dismissal of her complaint on the fourth and final day of hearing, that request was not necessarily a concession that her complaints were meritless. Thus, Student's parent did not demonstrate unreasonable actions merely by filing and opposing motions. Rather, her actions demonstrate a vigorous and aggressive pursuit of her child's rights, however unfocused and misapplied.

Finally, OAH cannot determine District to be a prevailing party when the matter was dismissed prior to a Decision on the merits being issued, complete with Factual Findings and Legal Conclusions.

ORDER

1. District's Motion for a portion of Attorney's Fees and Costs is denied.
2. District's request for prevailing party status based upon OAH's prior dismissal with prejudice is denied.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
